+54% YOY Growth in organic search visibility for one sub-brand

1. ENTERPRISE SEO FOR GLOBAL INSIGHTS
Adevinta is a global leader in digital marketplaces, with name brands including Marktplaats in the Netherlands, mobile.de in Germany and leboncoin in France. The company’s SEO team wanted to better understand how all its web pages were performing. With 40 websites and digital products across 12 countries under a single umbrella, the Barcelona-based company could no longer rely on piecemealed organic search tools to help each of its brands improve results at scale. The team also had difficulty communicating the importance of search to executives to and the rest of the organization. As Head of Global SEO, Esteve Castells sought a global solution that provided crawl analysis for all its web pages, including insight into which pages were being indexed, recommendations for cross-linking, and other metrics that could be easily shared across the company to help demonstrate the impact of organic search initiatives.

“Botify’s organic search expertise has been a key component in the success of our partnership.”

Customer Success Story
2. TURNING DATA INTO ACTIONS
Adevinta leveraged the Botify platform to provide each of its brands with the right data and recommendations to improve organic search initiatives and report on results. Since using Botify, Adevinta has performed more than 8,700 crawls of its 15 billion URLs. The company’s SEO team engaged and worked with Botify AlertPanel and ActionBoard features, as well as the company’s search data strategy team to learn how to turn data provided by the crawls into strategic actions to improve site visibility. Adevinta has found extensive value in having such insightful organic search information at their fingertips, allowing the organic search team to leverage opportunities and identify issues early on.

“We use Botify because it’s the best tool to help us sustainably grow our business.”
